Choreographic material for the final movement of V was commissioned by Thirteen WNET's Dance In America series for the program "Born to Be Wild: The Leading Men of American Ballet Theatre."

Mark Morris

Mark Morris was born on August 29, 1956, in Seattle, Washington, where he studied as a young man with Verla Flowers and Perry Brunson. He performed with a variety of companies in the early years of his career, including the Lar Lubovitch Dance Company, Hannah Kahn Dance Company, Laura Dean Dancers and Musicians, Eliot Feld Ballet, and the Koleda Balkan Dance Ensemble.

He formed the Mark Morris Dance Group in 1980, and has since created over 100 works for the Dance Group, as well as choreographing dances for many ballet companies including the San Francisco Ballet, the Paris Opera Ballet, and American Ballet Theatre. From 1988–1991, he was Director of Dance at the Théâtre Royal de la Monnaie in Brussels, the national opera house of Belgium. During his tenure there, he created 12 pieces including three evening-length works—The Hard Nut, his comic book-inspired version of The Nutcracker; L'Allegro, il Penseroso ed il Moderato; and Dido and Aeneas—and founded the White Oak Dance Project with Mikhail Baryshnikov.

Mr. Morris is noted for his musicality—he has been described as “undeviating in his devotion to music”—and for his “ability to conjure so many contradictory styles and emotions.” He has worked extensively in opera. He directed and choreographed a Royal Opera, Covent Garden production of Rameau’s Platée, which premiered at the Edinburgh International Festival in 1997 and had its New York premiere with the New York City Opera in April 2000 at Lincoln Center. He directed and choreographed the June 2000 English National Opera production of Four Saints in Three Acts. His premieres in 2002 included Kolam, created for Yo-Yo Ma’s Silk Road Project in collaboration with Indian composer Zakir Hussain.

Mr. Morris was named a Fellow of the MacArthur Foundation in 1991 and has received honorary doctorates from the Boston Conservatory of Music, The Juilliard School, and Long Island University. He is the subject of a biography by Joan Acocella (Farrar, Straus & Giroux).

Mark Morris Dance Group

The Mark Morris Dance Group was formed in 1980 and gave its first concert that year in New York City. In the following years, the company's touring schedule steadily expanded to include cities both in the US and in Europe and, in 1986, the Dance Group made its first national television program for PBS's Great Performances—Dance in America.

In 1988, the Mark Morris Dance Group was invited to become the national dance company of Belgium. During its three years as resident company of the Théâtre Royal de la Monnaie in Brussels, the Dance Group was the subject of several television programs, including the UK's South Bank Show. The company returned to the US in 1991, as one of the world's leading dance companies, performing across the country and at major international festivals.

The Mark Morris Dance Group has maintained and strengthened its ties to several cities around the world, most notably Berkeley, California, where, for the past several years, the Dance Group has performed twice annually at CalPerformances, including presentations of The Hard Nut each December from 1996–2001. In addition to a full, international, touring schedule, the Dance Group has completed two film projects: an Emmy Award-winning collaboration with cellist Yo-Yo Ma titled Falling Down Stairs using Bach's Third Suite for Unaccompanied Cello and a film version of Mr. Morris' Dido and Aeneas. The Dance Group's 2001 season at Sadler's Wells Theatre in London garnered the company its second Laurence Olivier Award.

In 2001, the Mark Morris Dance Center opened in Brooklyn, New York. This 30,000 square foot facility features three studios and a school providing classes to over 400 students of all ages.
