These performances are being documented on videotape for the permanent archives of Dance Theater Workshop and the Dance Collection of the New York Public Library, under grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the New York State Council on the Arts. This documentation also provides formal notice of copyright protection, as determined solely by the artist(s).

Dance Theater Workshop, founded in 1965 as a choreographers' cooperative, has grown into a vital membership organization of more than 500 performing artists and companies, and has become, at its Bessie Schönberg Theater (formerly the American Theatre Laboratory), the most active dance theater of its kind in the country. In its wide-ranging services and artist sponsorship programs—including this DTW Presents production season—DTW is dedicated to the active support and development of independent professional choreographers working throughout New York State.

To sustain and enlarge its commitment to the work of the choreographers and dancers presented here, Dance Theater Workshop very much needs your support and participation. We urge you to contribute to DTW, to whatever degree you can to ensure the continuing opportunity of public presentation of new and innovative dance works by both established and younger independent artists. The creative process that culminates in performance completes itself only in reaching an audience. Your contribution as well as your presence encourages and protects that process. DTW is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization, and all contributions are tax-deductible. Checks should be made payable to "Dance Theater Workshop, Inc." Your contribution will be used to match DTW's Challenge Grant for the National Endowment for the Arts. DTW wishes to recognize, with warm and constant appreciation, the central role and contribution of Jerome Robbins in the establishment of this theater facility. And while the theater was renamed in 1981 to honor a singular woman whose eye and mind have shaped much of the contemporary dance community, DTW continues to build upon the investigations of the original American Theatre Laboratory within the present-day explorations of the Bessie Schönberg Theater.
