

2013-14 SEASON
GREAT PERFORMANCES AT MASON

MARK MORRIS DANCE GROUP

Saturday, February 22 at 8 p.m.
Sunday, February 23 at 4 p.m.

"Astonishingly beautiful"

NEW YORK TIMES

MARK MORRIS DANCE GROUP

Saturday, February 22
at 8 p.m.
Sunday, February 23
at 4 p.m.

SINCE ITS FOUNDING some three decades ago, this acclaimed ensemble has been equally popular with dance aficionados, mainstream audiences, and critics alike. This stems from the brilliant choreography of Mark Morris with its riveting artistry, wit, and grace. His work is well known for its musicality, epitomized by performances that always feature live music. "[Mark Morris] finds ways to make bodies sing all the notes, not just the high ones." (The New York Times) Among several other works from their repertoire, this captivating program features the D.C. area premiere of A Wooden Tree, a new work set to the music and words of Ivor Cutler, poet and songwriter from Scotland. This astounding company, which The New York Times called, "astonishingly beautiful and an intricate demonstration of genius," features two talented alums from George Mason University's School of Dance.

$46, $38, $23

TICKETS

Call 888-945-2468 or visit us at cfa.gmu.edu

CENTER FOR THE ARTS