

The Brown University Creative Arts Council and the Brown University Club in New York invite you to

A VERY SPECIAL EVENT...

DAVID LEVENTHAL '95

JOSEPH BOWIE '86

Please join Brown alumni, students, and parents at The Brooklyn Academy of Music
Howard Gilman Opera House
Sunday, March 25, 2001 at 3 pm

for a performance of the Mark Morris Dance Company

L'Allegro, il Penseroso ed il Moderato

featuring Brown alumni
Joseph Bowie '86
and David Leventhal '95

Immediately following the performance, please join the entire Company, along with Brown professors Julie Strandberg of Theatre, Speech and Dance and Richard Fishman of Visual Arts, co-chairs of the Creative Arts Council, at a reception and discussion in the Lepercq room at the BAM.

$60 per person (includes performance and reception; seating in the orchestra or center mezzanine). A discount rate of $30 is available to current students and alumni in the classes of 1996 and younger.

To order tickets, please call 401 863-1055, or email universityevents@brown.edu

For directions, visit www.bam.org

---

First-Class Mail
US Postage PAID
Providence, RI
Permit No. 202

---

The Brown University Creative Arts Council (CAC) is committed to fostering a supportive environment for the arts and maximizing the visibility of the arts within the University and throughout the community. The Council is comprised of representatives from Visual Art; Creative Writing; Modern Culture and Media; Theatre, Speech and Dance; Music; the Bell Gallery; and Rites and Reason. In identifying priorities and setting goals for the arts at Brown, the Council serves as a catalyst for innovative collaboration across disciplines, and provides a regular forum for communication among all members of the arts community.